Funeral services held for local accident victim

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a 17-year-old Our Lady's Academy junior who died from injuries received in a two-car collision Saturday night that left four others injured.

Susan DesAngles, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. John DesAngles, Kila, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. She was a passenger in a car driven by Charles J. Fitzgerald, 16, Lower Bay Road, Clermont Harbor, which collided with a vehicle driven by Columbus J. Williamson, 34, Gulfport. Fitzgerald is a student at St.
Stanislaus.

Williamson and two other occupants of his car, Lawrence Wooten, 47,
Gulfport, and Wallace Jacquot, 63,
Biloxi, were officials for the Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl and were on

Poetry

ODE TO A BROKEN DREAM

Joseph Martinez

Alas! A broken dream—
The spirit broken, I find no strength to carry on my weary struggle.
My home, my past, the dream of death made easy with the assurance of broken boards and tattered curtains.
Eighty years, thirty with my love, have I lived.
She rests now, awaiting the day
which will bring me to her side.
Though the day is not long in coming, I had hoped to find comfort in the bits of happiness around me.
But that is not to be.
A man came today and said that I must leave.
They want my land, these people who build,
to make a world of cold, lifeless machines.
I must leave my past.
Leave every bit of life which I hold so
dear.
So close, yet so far away, is the soothing end.
A long belief that here I might dwell till the end-till I join the sweet company of my love.
Alas! A broken dream.
From home to home I will wander.
Searching,
not knowing what to do or where to go,
but I am weary, I must rest.
Faces will do their duty well, not knowing or caring in the least. What do they think of one solitary being who clings to a fading past?
I have lost the strength and will to argue,
to fight. My dream of a happy passing,
now gone.
Alas! A broken dream.

WHISPERING WINDS

Joseph Martinez

Whispering winds over the earth do blow singing soft,
sweet melodies; as they go.
The winds in the willows, the winds in the trees, go about all day and do as they please.
The winds above the earth do blow singing soft, sweet melodies as they go.
The winds about the trees, the winds about the flowers, sing soft sweet melodies as they while away the hours.
Whispering winds over the earth do blow singing soft sweet melodies as they go.

FAREWELL

Joseph Martinez

The flowers begin to grow in Spring.
Then the birds begin to sing.
All this reminds me of the beauty
That once belonged to me.
I can hear the toll of yon bell
As I say my last farewell.
Farewell, Farewell is what I say,
You loved me, you left me, you went your way.

WINTER PEACE

Joseph E. Martinez

When icicles hanging by the wall
glisten and sparkle wet;
while the hollow crunch is heard
beneath one's feet;
There dwells within the soul
a feeling of peace.
For when there lies an icy grasp
about the body,
can not he that so desires seek warmth in the sheltering abode of his castle?
Or he that finds peace in solitude, can not he surround himself with the universe,
seeking the life of,
yea, even the body of,
the white, glistening quiet?

THE SILENT WAR

Joseph Martinez

The war has begun.
Its coming is felt in the mighty blows which rain uncontrolled upon the fragile beauty of the land.
So great is its coming, that none have the strength nor will to turn aside the flowing forces.
Its beauty is such that can be seen once and remembered
twice and forgotten.
Churning, swirling, destroying the shallow hollow that was once a mighty fortress, created by a childish whim, destroyed by the fickleness of a Woman grasping back that which She gave.
Outward bound, the forces retreating, pass in placid quiet beneath the pale crescent whose greater power doth beckon.
Silence. For the sea has come and gone.

Poetic flair shown by busy Bay senior

Joseph E. Martinez, editor, Bay Senior High School year book, The Tiger, and member of the Bay High School chorus, wrote most of these poems during his sophomore year. Now a senior, Joseph is active in the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) at St. Clare's Church in Waveland, and has been writing poetry for the last several years.

A "B" average student, he favors journalism and English Literature in his academic pursuits, but allows that mathematics falls low on the list of favorite topics.

Citing cookies as his specialty, Joseph is shop foreman at Dixie Bakery in Waveland during his spare time, and is developing a flair for fancy cake decoration.

"So far I have mastered the arts of baking, icing and plain decorating cakes," he said last week, adding, "now I am learning how to put all the fancy touches onto the finished product."

Of course, along with cakes and cookies, Joseph turns out excellent bread, rolls, and donuts, but although he can see the romance in the bakery business he assures us his literary endeavors will not suffer.

Young Martinez lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Decker, on Marcus Drive, Waveland.

SEEKING LIGHT

Joseph Martinez

Darkness. Silence.
A cold wind passes the cheek.
Quiet sounds stir the meek.
A pale glow lights the wall—
seeking entrance to the room.
A seeking light. Questions all.
"Is it the one? Is it He?"
"Yes, Yes!—Throw wide the Door!"
"Fling loose the shutters so we may see!"
Hasten to welcome the newborn Sun!

Every woman deserves...

Contest No. 3 "Well, where/what is it?"

"Well, where/what is it?" will portray a different, well known area scene, or article, location or item for each contest. Each will be presented in disguised photographic form, with the complete description being provided upon completion of each contest. Clues, in the form of poetic verse, will be given, with additional lines being added each week the contest location or item remains unsolved.

It takes the "Where" to win
as well as the "What"

Puzzle No. 2 was easy. Everybody responding to the contest came in with the correct solution, the old anti-aircraft gun back of city hall in Bay St. Louis. First opened was entry of Charles B. Poolson, III, of Necaise Ave. in the Bay, who today has been sent a pass for two to the Star Theatre. We are printing the picture in full, and the right side up, for your review. Contest Number 3 begins today and, as there will be no Sunday paper on Thanksgiving weekend, entries here will be opened on Thursday, December 4. Good luck!

Clue No. 1

Without a doubt

3. Employees of the Sea Coast Echo or their families are ineligible. All entrants must be over 18 years old.
4. Names of winners will be published in subsequent issues.
5. Additional clues will be published each week until the contest is won. A full picture of the contest's location, or

One Bay area mom was bubbling over the other day:
"For Thanksgiving we're anticipating a visit from a jolly, bearded fellow with a big bag over his shoulder."
"You're confused. Santa comes at Christmas."
"No, our son is coming from college for the November holidays with all his dirty laundry."

Winter is surely close in the Bay-Waveland area. Haven't you all seen the squirrels lately...Making much ado about nutting?

Several of us, sitting and gripping about more bills coming in than money. One man mentioned an area minister who keeps all his bills, until they can be paid, in a box labeled "Due Unto Others."

And one area couple,
shopping in the meat section
of the supermarket:
Husband, wincing as he prices a steak, "Don't we have any meat stored in the freezer
at home?"
Wife, reaching for the ground beef, "Sure. Leg o' nutting?"

Heard about the area mail carrier who was bitten by a dog? When he reported it, he was asked, "Put anything on it?"
"No. The dog liked it just as it was."

Two BSL ladies met at the back fence, taking a breather
after morning housework:
"It's such a beautiful day that I wish I were a working woman so I could take the day off," said one.

And two Bay Hi seniors
recently discussed plans for the future.

Said the first, - "I have dreams of making millions,
just like Dad."

Said the second, - "Your dad's a millionaire?"
First, - "No. But he had dreams too!"

And did you all know that before cars were invented, all traveling done in Bay St. Louis was very romantic? Most of the roads were only "bridal"
paths, according to one young
Bay mis-speller.
Ah, yes. Let's again get a horse.

One Bay man gave up helping his child with home work. Seems the man was deep in a book when the boy asked him a question to which he granted a reply. But next day, the teacher wouldn't accept
"To keep his dishes in," as an answer to her question: Why does the President have a cabinet?

And while we're on Wee
Ones: Did anyone else happen

BAKED ROOSTER

by Brian Boule
Go and shop. Go get it (the rooster). It cost $6.00 and maybe it weighs about 10 lbs. Put it in a gold pan with a lid. Maybe put 2 lbs of water in it. Put it on the stove about 10 minutes and mix it up. Put 3 eggs in the Rooster and then put it in the oven about 12:00. Put more water on the top. It might come out about 8 seconds when its legs are brown.

SPAGHETTI
by Nicole Dagnall
Buy 1 spaghetti. Put 1 potato in the gravy. Cook it in the oven for 4 minutes. I don't know when its finished. Just eat it.

MEAT BALLS
by Gussy Adam
Go to Winn Dixie and buy some, 1 pkg. bread crumbs and 1 lb. of spaghetti (get red gravy not brown gravy). Put it in a pot (this big). Put it in the oven for 20 hrs. on high. Boil it. Mix it together and put it in the bowls.

CHICKEN
by Cherie LeBlanc
Go to the store and buy a 8 lb. chicken. Take it home and put it in a pot. Put it in the oven. Add 3 gallons of water. Cook at 9 degrees for 8 minutes. Its ready. Stop playing and come eat after your mama cleans the floors and walls.

Wendy de Ben

CHICKEN
by Wendy de Ben
Go to Winn Dixie and buy 2 lbs. of chicken. Come home and put um - 3 gallons of gravy on the chicken. Add 2 gallons of water. um, add 1 salt, um, 1 pepper, um, 1 loaf of bread. Put it on the stove for, um, real long. It's finished when you wash your hands.

SPAGHETTI
by Ginger Hall
Stick the meat in. ( 5 ozs.) Add gravy. (70 lbs.) Add a little bit onions. Add 100 lbs of salt and pepper. Put little bit of water. Cook on the stove for 60 hours at very hot. Don't put your hands on it. Sometimes my daddy does and says ouch!

TURKEY
by Jean Larroux
Buy the black part for the turkey. Not a stem (sort of like black bubble gum). Lay the turkey in the pan like this. (Demonstration - Jean lay on the floor to show us exactly what he means - very descriptive.) Get a pineapple and cut it in 4 hoop parts. (To go around the turkey's waist.) Put some kind of crab stuffing (about 2 lbs.) Don't add any water. Cook it for 30 minutes or so. Put it on the highest degree you can. If it burns, your mother will know because it smells just like burnt caramel like at Aunt Piji's house.

STEAK
by Chuck Karl
Go to A & P. and buy 5 lbs of any kind of steak. Don't put nothing on it. Put it in the oven at 44 degrees not 47 degrees. Take it out. You can add $2.00 of worstachire sauce. Don't eat all of it, so you can give it to your chickens and your dogs named Princess, Susie & Charlie.

FRIED FROGS
by Scott Tartavouille
1st Uncle Ronnie catches 31 frogs with a spear. Cut them up and get a big pan. (Throw the heads in the woods.) Put 2 cups of grease in the pan. Then butcher them. Fry them about 20 minutes. Eat them and let them finish talking and it's time to go home.

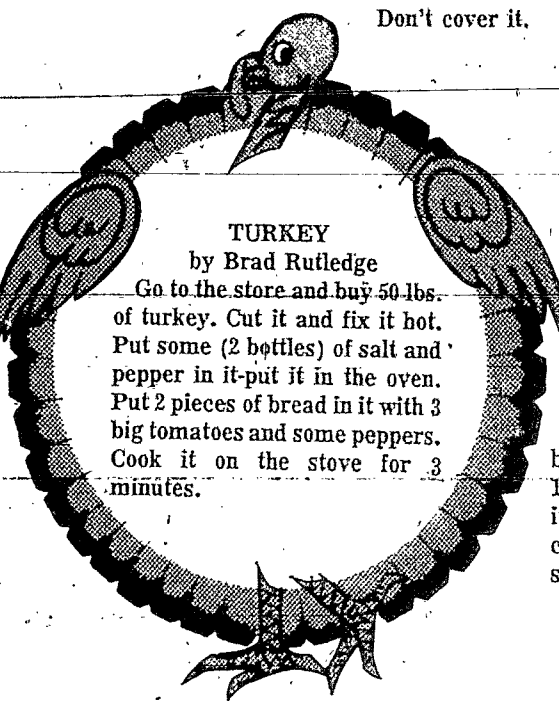

Mathew Gray

CHICKEN
by Mathew Gray
Buy a 70 lb. chicken. It has something in the inside. It's meat. Put Grease. Grease makes the chicken taste good. (only a little - 2 handfuls) Put it on the stove at very hot for 1/2. It's cooks when the fires oil.

TURKEY
by Tommy Cool
Go to T.G.Y. and Food Center and buy a 50 lb. turkey. Bring it home and put it in a big pan then stuff it with bread and 1 cup of water. Don't let the water get hot. Put it on the stove for 5 hours and then wait. The turkey is finished in 1 more hour.

SPAGHETTI
by Daren Stechmann
Buy 1 bowl of spaghetti. Put 1 gallon of meat sauce. Put it on the stove. Add 1 handful of salt, 1 teaspoonful pepper, 1 handful ketchup, 1 teaspoon milk. Cook it on the stove for 1 hour and then eat it.

Dear Parents:
As the Thanksgiving holiday draws nearer, and the thought of a delicious turkey dinner comes to mind, we thought you would enjoy hearing of your child's conception of his favorite Thanksgiving recipe, as he or she has seen you prepare it. These are your children's original thoughts, nearly word for word.
We would like to extend a very happy Thanksgiving wish to you and your families....

CHICKEN & FRENCH FRIES

by Sabrina Kersanac
Buy 3 or 4 lbs. of chicken and 3 or 4 lbs. of french fries. Put 1 gallon of barbecue sauce. Add 3 lbs. green peas. Put it outside of the chicken. Add 1 giant fish. (It has to be giant because its just one.) Put it on the grill for about 3 hours.

APPLE PIE & RAISINS

by Kanda Poolson
Buy 4 dozen apples and cut um. Aunt Kanda fixes Jello. Make 5 lbs. of dough. Don't put sugar. Mix. Put it on the stove for 70 hours at 50 hundred hot. When its cool your mommy will give you a piece.

SPAGHETTI & MEAT BALLS

by Elizabeth Haas
Go to TGY and buy 1 package of spaghetti and 5 lbs. of meat. Buy 2 cheese every day. Bring it home and mix it in a big bowl. Cook it on the stove for 10 hours.

Funeral services held for local accident victim

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a 17-year-old Our Lady's Academy junior who died from injuries received in a two car collision Saturday night that left four others injured.

Susan DesAngles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John DesAngles, Kiln, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. She was a passenger in a car driven by Charles J. Fitzgerald, 16, Lower Bay Road, Clermont Harbor, which collided with a vehicle driven by Columbus J. Williamson, 34, Gulfport. Fitzgerald is a student at St. Stanislaus.

Williamson and two other occupants of his car, Lawrence Wooten, 47, Gulfport, and Wallace Jacquot, 63, Biloxi, were officials for the Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl and were on their way to the game when the accident occurred.

Jacquot said two other passengers in his car, Ken Parvin, Gulfport, and Don Ross, Biloxi, escaped injury and went to the football game where they were officials of the accident. The originally scheduled to begin at 8 was delayed for 45 minutes until the injured officials were found.

According to the Harrison County's Office, Fitzgerald's car left the edge of the Kiln Road on a six miles north of Pass Christian veined 321 feet before returning road, at which point it crossed to the side of the road colliding with Williamson vehicle.

Sherriff's department spokesman Williamson's car was knocked nine feet from the point of impact and off d. He said the Fitzgerald car was knocked 40 feet from the point of impact, then hit a power pole, then skidded another 30 feet to the roadside before stopping.

Miss DesAngles, Fitzgerald, Williamson Wooten, and Jacquot were all taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic.

Fitzgerald was later transferred to Crosby Memorial Hospital at the request of his parents, Williamson, Wooten and Jacquot were transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, and were released Tuesday.

Fitzgerald was treated for multiple abrasions, Williamson for injuries of the chest and pelvis, Wooten for broken collar bone and Jacquot for a bruised chest and two broken ribs.

Moore rally, march set for Wednesday

By JAKE JACOB
Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), will address a Christopher Moore conviction protest rally scheduled for noon, Wednesday, evening.

The main purpose of the Tuesday rally was to tell prospective marchers that if they could not maintain the SCLC's non violence theme, then they should not march, Rev. Orange said.

Tuesday night rally.

SCLC sent several telegrams to leading political figures requesting their presence at the event. These included Congressman Trent Lott, Governor William T. Waller, and enforcement officials and agencies to combine their efforts in a "search for the persons responsible."

"Somebody is guilty of this crime," Brooks said at that time, "but we do not think it is Christopher Moore."

Rev. Abernathy to lead

Moore rally, march set for Wednesday

By JAKE JACOB

Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), will address a Christopher Moore conviction protest rally scheduled for noon, Wednesday, Nov. 26, outside the Hancock County Courthouse. Following the rally, Rev. Abernathy will lead a 60-mile march from Bay St. Louis, site of the recent Moore trial, to Pascagoula in Jackson County.

Moore, 23, was convicted by an all white jury Oct. 23, in Hancock County of the April 29 stabbing death and rape of Mrs. Irene Hoffman, 29, in her Pascagoula home.

The trial was transferred at the request of Moore's attorneys to Hancock County from Jackson County due to publicity which the murder and subsequent demonstrations caused in the Moss Point-Pascagoula area.

Rev. James Orange, SCLC, task force director, Atlanta, said Tuesday from Pascagoula that he was in the area to arrange final details and would accompany Rev. Abernathy on the march. Rev. Orange transferred his headquarters to the Gulf Side Methodist Assembly, Waveland, Tuesday afternoon where a rally and march registration was scheduled for that evening.

The main purpose of the Tuesday rally was to tell prospective marchers that if they could not maintain the SCLC's non violence theme, then they should not march, Rev. Orange said.

He said the purpose of the march was to protest Moore's conviction on the evidence presented at the trial. The SCLC feels the evidence was insufficient and inadequate to warrant conviction.

The all-white jury handed down their guilty verdict after testimony revealed police had matched a fingerprint on the inside of a window frame in the Hoffman house, to those of defendant Christopher Moore. Moore, through his attorneys, denied ever being at the Hoffman house.

Rev. Orange said the first stop on the march would be at Pass Christian, five miles east of Bay St. Louis on U. S. Highway 90. He said local committees are handling stop-over arrangements along the Coast and reported his group was in touch with law enforcement agencies all along the route.

"If we have any trouble we will assist the local law enforcement agencies and evict the trouble makers from the march," he said. He said persons with weapons would be weeded out at the

Tuesday night rally.

SCLC sent several telegrams to leading political figures requesting their presence at the event. These included Congressman Trent Lott, Governor William L. Waller, and Governor-elect Cliff Finch.

As of early Tuesday afternoon, the only response had been from Cong. Lott who declined due to the pressure of previous commitments.

James Rundels, assistant to the governor for minority affairs, also interviewed Tuesday afternoon, said the governor was out of town and not available for comment.

Rev. Orange said he hoped the protest would result in a thorough investigation of the case. "We feel a thorough investigation hasn't been done as of yet," he said.

Earlier this month SCLC information director Tyrone Brooks asked all federal, state, and local law enforcement officials and agencies to combine their efforts in a "search for the persons responsible."

"Somebody is guilty of this crime," Brooks said at that time, "but we do not think it is Christopher Moore."

Brooks claimed the prosecution never successfully placed Moore at the murder scene, nor produced a murder weapon.

Of the fingerprint Brooks said, "The only thing they have is a fingerprint they said they found in the house."

Albert Fairconnet, president of the Hancock Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Tuesday that the situation remained unchanged in his organization.

"Probably some people from this area will join in the march in sympathy for Moore, but it will be strictly on an individual basis" the NAACP president said.

"Adequate housing and schools exist"

GOA report substantiates Navy findings that NOO relocation will result in savings

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

WASHINGTON, D. C. - A General Accounting Office, (GAO) report issued this week confirms the Navy's claims that relocation of its Naval Oceanographic Office headquarters to Mississippi will produce annual recurring savings of about $2.5 million and one-time costs of about $19.2 million.

Additionally, according to Congressman Trent Lott, the report claims that "adequate housing and schools" exist "at the new location to handle the influx of personnel."

"I couldn't be more pleased," Lott said. "The GAO report confirms what we have been saying for months. It should calm the fear of those who have been told that Mississippi schools are inferior and overcrowded and that those who move to Mississippi will be culturally deprived."

The GAO investigation was requested by members of the Maryland congressional delegation, who have fought the move of the Oceanographic program and its $25 million payroll from Suitland, MD, to Hancock County.

The 18-page report revealed that the Navy overestimated the one-time cost of the move by $25,000. The Navy had claimed a one-time cost of $19,247,000. GAO analysts found it to be $19,222,000.

Estimated annual recurring savings was put at $2,727,000 by the Navy. That figure was trimmed by GAO to $2,477,000.

Of approximately 1,300 civilian and military personnel currently employed by the Oceanographic program, the Navy estimates that 35 percent will either retire or decline to relocate. That projection was substantiated by a GAO finding that:

"As of Nov. 7, 244 employees were notified that their functions were being transferred to NSTL. As of Nov. 13, 171 employees (70 percent) responded that they would relocate, 30 employees (12 percent) declined to relocate, and 43 employees (18 percent) had not yet responded."

On availability of housing, GAO investigators reported "The Navy estimates that about 810 civilians and 40 military personnel will relocate over the next two years. Sufficient housing units are currently available in the NSTL area to accommodate the anticipated influx."

On public school capacities, the report reads "Public school capacities in the area surrounding NSTL, with the exception of some public schools in Slidell, La., have the capacity to accommodate the additional students who would come from the move to NSTL." The report also points out the junior college activity in the NSTL area.

"It's a very favorable report as far as I'm concerned," Lott said. "I am hopeful that the move can now take place smoothly and without further disagreement."

The 10 prisoners in Hancock County Jail will have something to look forward to other than release Thursday, when they will be treated to a Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said the prisoners, all men, will enjoy a menu of turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, cooked vegetables, salad, dessert and Kool-Aid.

He said the meal will be prepared by the two trustees on duty.

David Cuevas, employee of City Paper Co., Gulfport, found that the new litter receptacles in downtown Bay St. Louis came in handy when he cleaned out his truck. The new receptacles, placed in five locations

Sunday, will soon have colorful advertising posters decorating three sides. The advertising pays for the receptacles according to the manufacturer, Twentieth Century Receptacles, Inc., Biloxi.

Shoreline Park woman charged in shooting free on $1,500 bond

A Shoreline Park woman charged with assault and battery with intent to kill in the shooting of her neighbor has been released from Hancock County Jail on $1,500 bond according to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

Mrs. Betty Lee Williams, 44, was arrested Nov. 15 after she reportedly shot Harold Kumpa, 67, with a .22 caliber revolver following an argument between the two.

According to Sheriff Ladner, Mrs. Williams ran her car into a light post, causing disruption of electric service in the neighborhood. When Kumpa questioned her about it, an argument developed. Then she reportedly went into her house, got the revolver, and shot him once in the left side of the chest.

Kumpa was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where he remained for a week. His attorney, William Frisbie, said a date for the preliminary hearing will be set as soon as Kumpa is physically able to appear.

Waller credited with precedent for future trade

Mississippi's second trade mission to the Middle East ended over twenty days ago, but orders for the State's products are still pouring in, according to Governor Bill Waller.

The Governor says that he, A & I Board Director Dr. Robert L. Robinson, and Marketing Council chief Paul Fugate are "working daily on following up on our contracts there (the Middle East) and passing requests for orders on to our farmers, businessmen and manufacturers."

Waller said that a government-owned company responsible for importing and selling most of the "consumer goods" in Iraq, this week asked for price quotations on various quantities of over 250 items, ranging from milk powder to zippers to kitchen cabinets.

The Governor said the lists of the items - which the government of Iraq will buy during the next year - are being made available to Mississippi firms handling the products.

Waller said that the direct sales to the Iraqi government represents "a major breakthrough not just for boosting Mississippi's economy, but also in U.S. relations with Iraq."

Assembly line turkeys

Sixth graders in Mrs. Mary Kay Jones' class at Our Lady of the Gulf School formed an assembly line to make 30 Thanksgiving turkey decorations for the residents of Gulfview Haven Nursing

Cox postpones hearing Hancock school suits

Attorney Walter Cox said Monday that U. S. District Court Judge Harold Cox had postponed Monday's scheduled hearing on two suits challenging Hancock County's at-large system of electing board members of all five members of the Hancock County School Board. Cox, who represents the School board, said Cox informed him the case was being postponed indefinitely due to a heavy schedule on all three of the district judges.

The latest delay in the school board suits follows a long list of delays since Dec. 30 when a restraining order was issued by Cox barring newly elected board member Oris Ladner from taking office until a suit challenging Hancock County's at-large system of electing board members could be heard.

The suit, filed by 16 Hancock County voters in federal court in Biloxi, charges that the at-large system of electing school board members was never subjected for approval to the U.S. Attorney General or the federal Justice Department as required by the 1965

Voting Rights Act.

Before that suit could be filed, a counter suit was filed by Ladner's attorney Ben Stone of Gulfport which asked that each of the other four board members be removed from office and new elections called as soon as a federal suit was made of the at-large elections.

Later the two suits were joined in federal court after Attorney General and Justice Department intervention.

Funeral services held for local accident victim

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a 17-year-old Our Lady's Academy junior who died from injuries received in a two-car collision Saturday night that left four others injured.

Susan DesAngles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John DesAngles, Kiln, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. She was a passenger in a car driven by Charles J. Fitzgerald, 16, Lower Bay Road, Clermont Harbor, which collided with a vehicle driven by Columbus J. Williamson, 34, Gulfport. Fitzgerald is a student at St. Stanislaus.

Williamson and two other occupants of his car, Lawrence Wooten, 47, Gulfport, and Wallace Jacquot, 62, Biloxi, were officials for the Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl and were on their way to the game when the accident occurred.

Jacquot said two other passengers in his car, Ken Farvin, Gulfport, and Dan Ross, Biloxi, escaped injury and went ahead to the football game where they told Bowl officials of the accident. The game originally scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., was delayed for 45 minutes until replacements for the injured officials could be found.

According to the Harrison County Sheriff's Office, Fitzgerald's car left the north edge of the Kiln Road on a curve six miles north of Pass Christian and traveled 321 feet before returning to the road; at which point it crossed to the east side of the road colliding with the Williamson vehicle.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Williamson's car was knocked nine feet north of the point of impact and off the road. He said the Fitzgerald car was knocked 48 feet from the point of impact, then hit a power pole, then skidded another 30 feet to the roadside before stopping.

Miss DesAngles, Fitzgerald, Williamson Wooten, and Jacquot were all taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic.

Fitzgerald was later transferred to Crosby Memorial Hospital at the request of his parents. Williamson, Wooten and Jacquot were transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, and were released Tuesday.

Fitzgerald was treated for multiple abrasions, Williamson for injuries of the chest and pelvis, Wooten for broken collar bone and Jacquot for a bruised chest and two broken ribs.

NASA/NSTL employees receive performance awards

Several residents of the Mississippi Gulf Coast received special awards from NASA for their work at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL). These awards were in recognition for their performance with the NASA organization, which is responsible for installation management, conducts NASA applications and utilization programs, and serves as host agency to other Federal and State elements comprising the nationally and internationally known space applications and environmental center.

Employees consisted of Group Achievement Awards for Budget and Finance, and other special individual awards.

R & D publishes Program of Work

The 1975-76 edition of "Program of Work" has been released by the R & D Center.

The booklet outlines how every division and branch of the Center is keyed to an economic development strategy. In addition, it summarizes each unit's special projects and technical services which have been budgeted for the fiscal year.

Counting of the funds the Center uses," said Dr. Kenneth C. Wagner, Center director, when the first "Program of Work" was published in 1972. "We want people to know what we do, how we do it, and the results that come from our work."

Copies of "Program of Work 1975-76", as well as additional information about any facet of the program, will be provided on request from the Public Information Office, P. O. Drawer 2470, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205.

Mississippi Coast Council adopts program of action

At the first meeting of the newly formed Mississippi Coast Council a 10 point Program of Action affecting the economic growth of the entire Gulf Coast was adopted.

The recently formed Council is composed of over 3100 members of the eight Chambers of Commerce in Biloxi, Gulfport, Hancock County, Pass Christian, Ocean Springs, North Bay Area, Pascagoula-Moss Point and Long Beach.

John Paxton, elected acting president of the Mississippi Coast Council, said the purpose of the Council is to be the unified voice of the business community of the Coast area, dedicated to bring about those necessary programs and facilities that will benefit every citizen of the area. He said each Chamber of Commerce has appointed three individuals to serve on the Board of Directors to represent their respective Chambers.

The Council's primary objectives for the upcoming year are:

To obtain necessary legislation to remove the State Sales Tax on gasoline.

To convey to Governor-elect Finch the need to have citizens of the Mississippi Gulf Coast represented on State Boards and Commissions.

To have a professional study made to determine the feasibility for a senior college on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

To work for a comprehensive park and recreation program for all Gulf Coast Counties.

To institute a joint effort to acquire major attractions that will bring about a 12 month tourist season.

To acquire temporary tourist information facilities by each of the eight Coast at the east and west entrances to the State on Interstate 10 and U. S. Highway 90 until such time as the permanent facilities are constructed and completed on Interstate 10.

To support the completion and total operation of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum.

To work with city, county, state and federal governments in the development of a total program to provide clean Gulf Coast waters and streams.

To support positive economic programs that will benefit the citizens of the Mississippi Gulf Coast and support business and industry on issues that would adversely affect the economic growth of the Gulf Coast.

Paxton said that Committees would be appointed to develop specific plans to accomplish these objectives. The three issues dealing with removal of gasoline sales tax, Coast representation on State Boards and Commissions, and the need for a college on the coast would be given high priority by the Council.

"The unanimous agreement by each of the eight Coast

Chambers participating in the Mississippi Coast Council has introduced a strong and united voice to tackle issues and programs affecting the entire coast area. This organization, representing over 3100 people along the Coast area will be involved and active in regional and state programs affecting the Mississippi Gulf Coast," Paxton said.

He said the composition of the Board of Directors of the Council is indicative of the commitment by each participating Chamber of Commerce to insure that the Coast Council succeeds in its objectives. "Every community has appointed top community leaders to serve on the Board of Directors whose responsibility will be to develop the policies of the Council and to oversee its programs."

Tom E. Meek of Pascagoula, first vicepresident; Perry F. Gibson, Bay St. Louis, second vicepresident; and Don Wylie, Biloxi, secretary, will form the Executive Committee of the Mississippi Coast Council until January when the Board of Directors will meet to formally elect the officers to head the Council for 1976.

Members of the Board of Directors include L. C. Corban Jr., Lewis Langlais, and

SUSAN DESANGLES

Funeral services for Susan E. DesAngles, 17, Kiln, were held at 9:45 a.m. Tuesday from Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home followed by a 10 a.m. Mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Burial was in Rotten Bayou Cemetery.

Miss DesAngles was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital from injuries she received in an automobile accident Saturday night.

A native of Burbank, Calif., she had been a resident of Kiln for the past 15 years. She was a junior at Our Lady's Academy and a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Survivors include her parents Mr. and Mrs. John DesAngles; two brothers, Tony and Charlie DesAngles; and two sisters, Dorothy and Sandra DesAngles, all of Kiln, Miss.

Vets on pension must file yearly income statement

Income Questionnaire Cards have been received by most of the veterans or widows who are drawing pensions with their November checks. These I.Q. Cards must be filled in and returned by Jan. 1, 1976 or pension payments will be terminated. If you are under 72 years of age and did not receive the I.Q. Card you must submit an income statement in every case. If you are over 72 years of age and have had a change in your income, other than Social Security, or a change in your number of dependents you must report this change.

If you are filling in your own card to figure your total income for the year from Social Security for 1975, use the amount of your last check plus $6.70 for medicare payment, if applicable, and multiply this amount by the figure 11.556. This gives you the total for the year and figures in the 8 percent raise that was effective June 1, 1975. Assistance in filling in this card is available at your Veterans Service Office in the Court House.

WAIVER OF PREMIUMS - NSLI

National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) policies provide for a waiver of premiums on account of total disability of the insured veteran for six or more consecutive months which commenced prior to the insured's 65th birthday, and while the insurance is on a premium paying basis. The VA defines total disability as any impairment of mind or body which continuously makes it impossible for the insured to follow any substantially gainful occupation. However, the permanent loss of the use of both feet, both hands, both eyes, one foot and one hand, one foot and one eye, one hand and one eye, total loss of hearing of both ears, or the organic loss of speech is considered to be total disability for insurance purposes.

Veteran's service office/Chester Curvey

When waiver of premiums is established, the veteran will not have to pay premiums as long as he remains totally disabled. The face amount of the policy will not be decreased because the premiums are waived. If premiums on a term policy are being waived at the time it is converted to a permanent plan, premiums will also be waived on the converted policy. Waiver of premiums is not granted automatically and the established, the beneficiary will receive an amount equal to the total premiums paid from the effective date of waiver to the veteran's death.

This benefit to the beneficiary is often overlooked when making application for proceeds of the policy. If the veteran was totally disabled for six months or more prior to death, and he was still paying premiums, a claim for waiver of premiums should be submitted along with the claim for settlement of the policy. Generally, the waiver of premiums is made effective as of the first premium due following the commencement of a total disability which continues for six months or more. However, it may not be effective more than one year prior to receipt of the veteran's claim, or not more than one year prior to the veteran's death when claim is made by the beneficiary.

These one-year periods may be extended if failure to make claim or submit satisfactory evidence of total disability was due to circumstances beyond control. Where the policy of the insured, who dies after a continuous period of less than six months of total disability, has lapsed for non-payment of premiums during such disability, the insurance will be paid subject to a lien of the unpaid premiums if total disability commenced while the insurance was in force under premium paying conditions and before the insured's 65th birthday.

County Agent's Notes

Aerate soybeans in storage to maintain quality

Management of soybean seed in storage is one very important factor in maintaining good seed quality. When seed are placed in storage they should be sufficiently dry - 12 to 14 percent moisture content.

At time of storage, aeration should begin. Fans should be run without heat while bins are being filled to cool the seed. Removing field heat from the beans will help maintain quality.

Aeration periodically throughout the storage period prevents moisture migration within the bin. As temperature changes, the outside several inches of beans in the bin will change temperature faster than the beans farther in the seed mass. This generates air currents that move through the seed mass. The warmer air will increase in moisture content. When it comes in contact with cold beans, the moisture will condense. This causes a moisture build up generally in the center and across the top of the seed mass.

Aeration during the storage period, especially when temperature changes of 20 degrees or more occur, will help prevent this.

FROSTED GRASS
To get the most good from your frosted grass pastures, try to graze them off by the middle of December. They lose quality fast by the first of the year.

For your cattle to most benefit from the frosted grass, feed them supplemental protein and energy rations.

FALL USE OF TREFLAN
If you are considering applying Treflan to your land

this fall, give some thought to field selection first.

Soils that are subject to erosion should not have the material incorporated this fall. Land that is subject to prolonged overflow should also not receive a fall Treflan treatment.

Soils best suited for fall application are the heavier soils that have good surface drainage and are difficult to work early in the spring.

After the fall herbicide treatment, winter weeds are normally not a problem, final seedbed preparation is easier and incorporation in a wet clay soil (difficult business) is not needed. To overcome herbicide losses that normally occur in winter and fall on clay soils, apply 25 percent more herbicide than is recommended for spring application.

Reflections of the past

Jessie and George Janvier staged this successful Henderson Point outing in summer of 1920. Pulled by a Model T Ford, the trailer is, according to a newspaper description of the event, filled with "the three little Janviers, the four little Lacours, the two little Bells, and little Arthur Hammond. In the 'big car' were, the host and hostess, plus Elizabeth Lacour, Hilda Hammond, and Mrs. Bryan Bell. 'Little' George Janvier now of 221 Julia, Bay St. Louis, brought in the photograph and newspaper description. The only 'kids' he knows for sure are his brother Charles, seated left, and his sister Jessie, seated right; John Hammond, next to Charles, and Bryan Bell, next to Jessie. George is standing at back, to right.

Bay woman reportedly beaten, then charged with assault

A Bay St. Louis woman was released on a $1,500 personal recognizance bond Tuesday morning after being charged Monday afternoon with assault and battery with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in an incident that police were still investigating.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette said that a warrant was filed Monday against Mrs. Judith L. Gavney of 440 Webb Street in Bay St. Louis by Dorothy Nicholson of Chiniche Street after Mrs. Nicholson was struck by Mrs. Gavney's car in front of Murphy's Drive In on Highway 90 at approximately 3:40 p.m.

Gulport Memorial Hospital said Mrs. Nicholson suffered a simple fracture of the leg.

Patrolman Emmet Ellis and assistant chief Douglas Williams who investigated the accident, arrested Mrs. Gavney at the scene and took her to Hancock County Jail where she was incarcerated Monday night under $15,000 bond.

Police Chief Carbonette verified Tuesday that there had been verbal clashes between the two women and their families over a period of almost two months.

According to Mrs. Gavney's attorney Bill Frisbie of Bay St. Louis, his client has suffered abuse and threats from Mrs. Nicholson and her five sisters, all members of the Ellis family, in a neighborhood squabble "that you just wouldn't believe could happen anymore."

Frisbie said that Mrs. Gavney was not the party wronged in the incident Monday and questioned the fact that the arresting officer just happened to be the brother of Mrs. Nicholson.

According to Frisbie, who said that his own investigation of the matter was still continuing, Mrs. Gavney was with three of her children and two neighbor's children when a car with all six of the Ellis sisters began intimidating them with their own car by hogging the road and slamming on their brakes after passing Mrs. Gavney.

When Mrs. Gavney stopped her own car, Frisbie said, the Ellis sisters reportedly got out of theirs and approached the Gavney vehicle-beating on the windshield and pulling at the windshield wipers.

Frisbie said that his client told him that she turned to tell the children to look all the doors in the car and then attempted to drive off, striking Mrs. Nicholson when she did. Frisbie said Mrs. Gavney stopped the car and got out when she realized one of the women had been hit and that was when the other five sisters attacked her, hitting her in the face with their fists and breaking her glasses.

Frisbie said that city judge Joseph Benvenuti told him he signed a warrant against Mrs. Gavney after being told that Mrs. Nicholson only had "a 50-50 chance to live" and set bond at $15,000.

According to friends of Mrs. Gavney, sheriff's department officers would not allow them to see her at the jail Monday night or talk to her.

Frisbie said that no explanation was given why there were no charges filed against the Ellis sisters.

Bond was reduced to $5,000 personal recognizance Tuesday morning and Mrs. Gavney was released.

Frisbie said a hearing on the matter had been set for city court Dec. 3, but said he imagined that city judge Joe Benvenuti would excuse himself from hearing the case since a Bay St. Louis patrolman was the brother of the plaintiff.

Frisbie said he was not ruling out the possibility that Mrs. Gavney would bring charges against the Ellis sisters later for assault and battery.

City Hall gets nod for Main St. project

Tourists, strangers and locals unfamiliar with the odd street layout of Bay St. Louis are initially delighted to be directed from U. S. 90 into Main Street for a journey to our "Central Business District."

The turn, clearly indicated by green and white markers, is made with confidence by these unsuspecting drivers.

Their confidence is short lived. Except for the individual property owner efforts, Main Street, especially close to U.S. 90, is a death trap.

City Hall last week unveiled plans to refurbish "the drag" from St. Francis Street to U.S. 90. No firm commencement date was provided as some, little delays are apparently still being provided in the engineering and financing fields.

Added costs have apparently caused a proposed underground cable system to be scratched, and a shortage of overall project cash is causing some concern.

As matters now stand, the city has been allocated some $64,000 from the Federal Aid to Urban Systems program, with an additional $33,000 from the same source due in January of 1976. Project costs, excluding the underground system, amount to some $130,000. The balance, $33,000 is apparently to come from revenue sharing funds, or in the form of a loan.

We often find ourselves at odds with City Hall, more than not with the office of the mayor. In this case however, we laud the effort of Mayor Warren Carver to alleviate the "Tobacco Road" impression gained by persons entering "the Bay."

More particularly, we endorse the mayor's effort to make Main Street into a thoroughfare worthy of the name and one safe to traverse by both vehicle and pedestrian alike.

It, to say the least, in 1975 is ridiculous to have to enforce an ordinance calling for all pedestrians to walk, facing traffic, in single file, on the main street of any municipality.

The alternative, in this case, at least until the road is fixed, is to continue to expose the life and limb of pedestrians forced to engage in daily games of Russian Roulette with powered vehicles. This applies especially to students who have little alternative in their daily traverse to and from school. Their high spirits, combined with the frustrations of having to walk or cycle to schools seemingly built the maximum distance away from residential areas, lend additional fuel to a smoldering fire.

We ask Mayor Carver to keep pressing for action in the refurbishment of Main Street.

We ask Mayor Carver to consider initiating a continuing program of street maintenance and rehabilitation to make Main Street worthy of its name.

We ask Mayor Carver to do a first class job on the project and make the main entrance to Bay St. Louis worthy of its name in both appearance and safety.

We ask Mayor Carver to make this project the epitaph of his administration. (J-J)

Killing replaces "pot," says state game chief

Killing is an acceptable substitute for "pot" and artificial "trips," according to Avery Wood, director of conservation, Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

In an editorial being carried in this month's issue of the Mississippi Game and Fish magazine, Wood states in defense of wildlife killers, "We need to create the image of a new breed of hunters, not supermen but average American folks - folks who cut their grass, wave the flag, love apple pie and hunt and fish as a family. The outdoors and hunting replace 'Pot' and artificial 'trips' for their teenage children. They chase wild game in the woods and not wilder game in the cities."

This outrage against the State of Mississippi's teenagers and their parents follows an equally ardent non-civil service declaration of an image of hunters held by the "thousands of kids, voters, and little old ladies in tennis shoes."

Finally, Wood says, "We must assume the offensive!"

We bitterly resent this typical bureaucratic and demagogic like attitude being demonstrated by Avery Wood in the assumption of our mind's workings, the appeal to "voters," and the separation from the voter role of "little old ladies in tennis shoes." Finally, we ask under what state of the State of Mississippi civil servants, be they appointed or under the merit system, have the right to "assume offensive" of any nature?

We do not agree with the necessity for affluent citizens to kill, when adequate sustenance, slaughtered under humane conditions, exists at retail outlets.

We do not agree with the methods sanctioned by the state fish and game commission for the destruction of wildlife.

We do, however, recognize the rights of individuals to operate within the law as hunters, each functioning within the confines of his own conscience, and each responsible for his own actions.

We do recognize the necessity for animal control where definite commercial destruction can be proven.

We do recognize the necessity of the incorporation of wildlife into larders that lack other means of acquisition.

We do not sanction the spending of public funds on "...the need to create the image of a new breed of hunters..."

Nor do we agree to the expansion of conservation director's activities into the area of "...assuming the offensive!" presumably against the laggard voters who offend the fish and game group's sensibilities.

Wood expresses a desire to preserve the flora and fauna for our children and grandchildren.

Nature has a way of achieving this balance and has so managed since the beginning of time. It is when man intervenes the system collapses, time after time.

We do not think our children will turn to "pot," "artificial trips," or the "wiles of the big city," simply because we disagree with Mr. Wood's killer philosophy. We consider our children above such comparison and fail to see how his "kill or pot" denouncement could in any way convince the "kids, voters, and little old ladies in tennis shoes." That the "new image" is anything other than a donning of sheep's clothing by the fox. (J-J)

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Picture yourself for a moment as the President of the United States. You're faced with perhaps the most critical decision of your political life, a decision that could have a dramatic impact on the course this country takes during the next 30 years.

You've got to nominate a successor to retired Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

That's the decision President Ford has been pondering the last two weeks. It isn't an easy task.

By any yardstick, it's a decision of mammoth proportions. This next justice, the 101st in the history of the highest court of the land, could tip the scales one way or the other on a number of important issues.

A quick look at the recent 5-4 decisions handed down by the Supreme Court will show you why this next justice will frequently be considered the "swing" vote, the tiebreaker in some cases. The one vote cast by this next justice could make or break any issue the court considers in the next several years.

So what are some of those critical issues? What will the Supreme Court be considering in the future?

How about a controversial issue like the death penalty? I've been informed that some 400 convicts are condemned to die if the death penalty is restored. One vote could make the difference.

There are, of course, many other issues involving criminals. Prosecutors, for example, want to ease some of the restrictions on evidence and confessions. They want to crack down on crime.

One vote could make the difference. Then there are such controversial issues as federal campaign financing laws, abortion, public housing, and busing. Some of them will be decided with 5-4 votes.

All of this, of course, has a dramatic impact on the Congress, too, because most of them are issues emanating from legislation already passed or presently pending in the House of Representatives.

With that in mind, I have asked the President to consider several factors when he makes his decision. First and foremost, he should find a capable legal mind, someone who has demonstrated excellence in some field of the law.

I have asked him to consider a conservative, a strict constructionist of the Constitution, someone who believes in fundamental issues like law and order and believes in the rights of society as well as the rights of individuals.

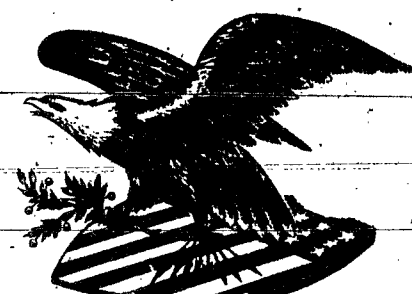

I have asked him to consider Congressman Charles "Chuck Wiggins" of California, Congressman David Treen of Louisiana, and Congresswoman Marjorie Holt of Maryland. Each is highly qualified. Each is fully capable of serving with distinction on the Supreme Court.

There are, of course, several other outstanding Americans under active consideration by the President. Solicitor General Robert Bork; Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Carla Hills; Senator Robert Griffin of Michigan.

The pressure on the President has been enormous. Blacks want him to nominate a black. Liberals have insisted that he replace Douglas with another liberal. Conservatives want the swing vote to be a conservative. Women have lobbied for a woman.

By the time you read this, the President probably will have made his decision. I just hope that he looked long and hard before he made that decision.

Bicentennial News

B JOE PILET

"A Past to Honor." Through this column today we will honor the memory of a Creole, born on April 25, 1214 A.D.: Hall! King Louis IX, sainted King of France, for whom Bay St. Louis the city, and the Bay of St. Louis was named.

Louis IX was one of twelve children born to King Louis VIII and his queen, Blanche of Castile. Known as the "Christian King and Crusader" he was during his reign the most powerful king in Western Europe. He founded abbeys, convents, hospitals, almshouses and led the best organized and best financed crusades. Because of his fair judgement, he was frequently called upon to serve as arbitrator of disputes. In the year 1297 he was canonized by Boniface VIII at Orvieto.

Let's review the discovery of our beautiful bay and coastal land that we may recall how fitting and proper are the names City of Bay St. Louis situated on the shores of Bay of Saint Louis.

This area was first explored by white men in 1682 when Robert Cavalier de la Salle's findings were recorded by Jacques de la Mairie, the official historian of the expedition.

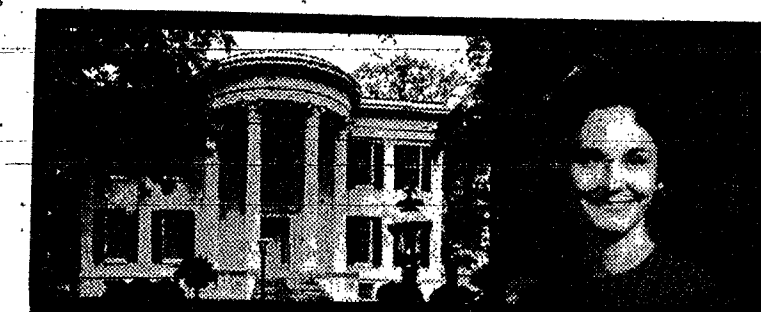

On April 12, 1699 Pierre le Moyne d'Iberville set out to explore a beautiful bay. He had learned of the bay through Indians and also through de la Salle's findings. The bay was reached on the Feast Day of King Louis IX and was named the Bay of St. Louis in his honor. This information comes from an account given by Penicault who was journalist of the frigate Le Marin.

Jean Baptiste le Moyne Bienville, brother of d'Iberville, later set foot on land and named the territory Bay St. Louis, taking the name from the Bay of Saint Louis.

In December 1699 d'Iberville placed a sergeant and 15 men in a small fort. It is believed the fort was situated in the vicinity of the now Carroll Avenue and de Montuzin. Indians knew the area as Chickapout which is a Choctaw name meaning "bad grass." It is thought the name referred to rock-a-chaws or sand burr clover. Both plants grew in profusion in this area.

The name of the village of Bay St. Louis was changed at one time to honor Thomas Shield and called Shieldsboro. For many years both names were used and it proved confusing. In January 1858 the Mayor and Board of Aldermen attempted to clarify by incorporating the town under the name of Shieldsboro. This move did not meet general approval. On March 2, 1875 the name was restored and the town was incorporated as City of Bay St. Louis.

"News From Your Mansion"

By Conrad Waller

"Jerry Clower Day in Mississippi" was one of the highlights at the Mansion this past week. As part of the day honoring this great country comic from Amite County and Yazoo City, several hundred persons attended a reception at the Mansion on Saturday morning and then everyone moved out onto Capitol Street for the parade.

Monday was really a busy day. It started off with a press conference opening an art exhibit at the Mansion of paintings done by those involved in the "Special Olympics" program. Some of these are really great!

Monday afternoon I went to the Robinson-Carpenter Library in Cleveland to help celebrate Children's Book Week. This was in the form of an autograph party for the Pictorial History of the Mansion and it was a pleasure being able to show and tell everyone about this "first ever" history of the Mansion.

A reception for members of the Ralph Humphries DAR was the other big event of our week which included many visitors from the Governor's Conference on Education and lots and lots of school groups. By this time next week the principal of Peoples Junior High here in Jackson will have given every one of his 1,023 students an opportunity to tour their Mansion.

One of our school groups came from South Jones High School at Ellisville and included Mike Bilbo, a great-great-nephew of Governor Bilbo. Another descendant, Mrs. Reginald Goodwin, who is a great-niece of Mrs. Tighman Tucker, visited the Mansion during the week.

Other groups came from Forest, Canton, Brookhaven, Yazoo City, Oxford, Mendenhall and Columbia.

A new project at the Mansion that I hope you've already heard or read about is our library. The Mississippi Library Commission is trying to collect the works of Mississippi writers for a permanent Mansion Library. If you want to have a part in this send your contributions or write for more information to: "Books For The Mansion", Mississippi Library Commission, P.O. Box 3260, Jackson, Mississippi 39207.

KERSHNER'S COMMENTARY

By Dr. Howard E. Kershner

The Tale of Two Massacres

The biased nature of the major media in our country has never been more clearly illustrated than in the reporting of two massacres.

At My Lai 347 civilians were killed by troops making an attack on the village. It was terrible, but was not deliberate, predetermined revenge. Nevertheless, oceans of crocodile tears were shed and barrels of ink were used in heavy, repeated and continuing defamation of those responsible for the tragedy. In contrast, sixteen times as many civilians were murdered at Hue and the WASHINGTON POST gave the story only 11" on page 22. They did add a brief editorial condemning the slaughter which is more than the NEW YORK TIMES did. Contrastingly, the My Lai massacre monopolized the front pages not only of these two papers but many others for many days.

Three and one-half pages of the NEW YORK TIMES were required to list all the stories published by that paper about My Lai in the months of November and December of 1968.

The victims at Hue were plucked from their homes from lists prepared in advance, taken out to hidden places, forced to dig their own graves and then shot in cold blood or buried alive. My Lai was mild in comparison. However, the media blew it up to enormous proportions while playing down to very minor proportions the much more wicked and much greater tragedy of Hue.

Why does so much of the media want to magnify out of all proportion the sins of the right while minimizing the much greater sins of the left?

Hitler was rightly anathematized but Stalin should have been condemned even more severely. As Solzhenitsyn well said, "One doesn't invite in the wolves to help fight off the dogs."

ANSWER: Accuracy and fairness on the part of the media.

Guest Editorial

By DON SHOEMAKER
Editor of The Miami Herald

Whether the Bible is the full and true word of God, as many Christians believe; or whether it is the history of a religion, as all scholars acknowledge; or whether, finally, it is to be held simply as great literature, as agnostics and writers agree, it is to all mankind a universal gift.

No other book has been translated into nearly every language and dialect. No other book appears, in one version or another, in so many homes and inns and even hovels.

The Bible's very antiquity, which stretches back in the Old Testament to some date between the 6th and 8th centuries, is at once mysterious and electrifying. In the main the "preservation" of the hundreds of sacred manuscripts which were in fact lost is a strange triumph of the perseverance of the human heart and mind. To think, further, that the Bible is the first-typed history of man, surviving natural catastrophe and the collapse of civilizations, which one may hold in his hands must make the senses tingle.

It is a universal book, yet 66 books in all, from Genesis to the sermons, from the "Preparation of the Old Testament," according to the fabulous encyclopedia, the Scofield Reference Bible, to the "Consummation of the Apocalypse."

As such the Bible is the human story, in its scope a chronicle of the family of man as awesome and compelling as an historical novel. The intense study of it, as Samuel Taylor Coleridge wrote, "will keep any writer from being vulgar in point of style."

But we miss the majesty of this book if we regard it only as a book and anything less than the consensus of man as related to God. James Cardinal Gibbons found it in all candor "full of obscurities and difficulties not only for the illiterate, but even for the learned." Pope Leo XIII thought that its "sacred writers" could have made mistakes but they "render in exact language, with infallible truth, all that God commanded, and nothing else."

In keeping, then, with both scripture and man in the flesh the Bible is a book of both comfort and despair, of romantic love and voluptuousness, of the nobility of the human mind and of its crass brutality, written in a manner which both contents scholars and challenges them to try to improve - vainly I think - on its language. It is a very part of the vernacular of the last 20 centuries.

Anyone who can be without it through ignorance of its pageantry or scorn of its religiosity is sorely deprived.

Betty Crocker announces scholarship

The 22nd Annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, a $110,000 college scholarship program sponsored by General Mills, gets underway Dec. 2. High school seniors in Hancock County and throughout the country will join in a written knowledge and attitude examination which will determine individual college scholarship awards of $500 to $5,000.

Participating seniors in this area will compete in a 50 minute examination at Bay High School prepared and graded by Science Research Associates, Chicago, who are also responsible for all judging and selection of winners. The local winner will receive a certificate from General Mills and will, together with other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

State winners will each be awarded a $1,500 scholarship. Chosen in judging that centers on performance in the written examination, state Family Leaders of Tomorrow will also earn for their schools a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation. Second-ranking participants in each state will receive $500 college grants.

On April 25-26 of next year, the 51 state Family Leaders of Tomorrow will gather in Washington, D. C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city. Personal observation and interviews of the state winners during the tour will be added factors in the selection of the 1976 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships awarded to the four national winners will be for $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Rope making

Rope making will be one of hundreds of activities and crafts featured at Scout Show '75, a seven-hour Boy Scout show scheduled Saturday, Dec. 6 at the Rivergate Exhibition.

At NASA/NSTL

Coming up next...fishing forecasts via satellite

(Editor's Note: This is another in the series of feature articles about NASA-National Space Technology Laboratories and the scientists working on the "world of tomorrow" in Southwest Mississippi.)

You are a commercial fisherman. You subscribe to a service that provides you with a daily map or print-out that shows the likely location of schools of menhaden in your areas of operation.

Or, perhaps you are a sport fisherman. Your morning newspaper prints the familiar daily weather map, tide tables and other information you should have about your fishing grounds if you are planning a fishing trip out into the Gulf. But, there's a new feature in your favorite newspaper. It is a "fishing forecast map," showing you the likely location of fish schools where you should be able to go fish with a high probability of a good catch.

Does this sound like a "pie in the sky" story? Well, it's not. It's another "satellite in the sky" story.

Experiments now being conducted by scientists of the National Marine Fisheries Service at Mississippi's NASA-NSTL near Bay St. Louis justify the prediction that fish forecasts will someday be as common as weather forecasts.

Bay student participates in program

Susan J. Garcia, Bay St. Louis, recently participated in the U. S. Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program in Ackerman.

The national YCC program, started in 1970, was unique this year because one unit of elective credit was offered to students participating.

At Ackerman, a certified environmental science instructor was hired, an instruction component was built into the work program, and students studied several aspects of their environment.

Waveland plans festival

Students at Waveland School will have a chance to give their teachers a "pie in the eye" at the annual fall festival Tuesday at 2:50 p.m.

In addition to the pie throwing game, there will be a yelling contest with teachers and students' shouts will be measured electronically.

Hot dogs, hamburgers, sandwiches, popcorn and soft drink booths will be set up in addition to booths featuring baked goods and holiday food.

As a treat for Charles I. of England, Queen Henrietta Maria had him served a pie containing a live dwarf.

Faulkner featured on ETV

Yoknapatawpha County, the name William Faulkner gave to the site of the stories for which he won the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1950, may be the only "county" in Mississippi that's known internationally.

Hence, "Tales of Yoknapatawpha" was the name chosen for the fourth of six Mississippi Library Commission (MLC) programs on Mississippi writers currently airing at 1:30 p.m., Sundays, and again, at 8:30 p.m., Mondays, on Mississippi Educational Television.

Faulkner and his widely acclaimed contributions to twentieth century literature will be considered Nov. 30, and Dec. 1, as part of the "Climate for Genius" series produced by Mississippi ETV in cooperation with Mississippi State University. The project was made possible by a grant to the MLC from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Five prominent Faulkner scholars explore his mythical county during the program,

WILLIAM FAULKNER

taped on the grounds of and inside the writer's Oxford home, Rowan Oak.

Referring to "The Sound and the Fury," "Go Down, Moses," and other Faulkner books, they talk about the clash between cherished traditions and industrial progress, techniques the writer used in his narrative, the humor in his works and those things that made

William Faulkner, an artist, Louis Rubin and Blyden Jackson, both of the University of North Carolina, Lewis Simpson of Louisiana State University and Dan Young of Vanderbilt have written extensively about Faulkner. Those gentlemen including novelist-historian Shelby Foote, discuss the master and his masterpieces.

French Ministry solicits paintings of Biloxi artist

Artist Joe Moran of Biloxi has been invited by the French Ministry of Tourism and the City Council of Paris to submit a slide presentation of his paintings for the American painters in Paris.

Three paintings by Moran have also been accepted to show at the New Parish Convention Center which will open a show Dec. 15 through Jan. 15, 1976. The paintings selected are "Biloxi Shrimp Boat," "Ophelia Williams," "Biloxi Steel Shrimper," and "Houston Harbor."

The showing is being sponsored by the Centre International De Paris and the National Art Materials Trade Association.

Rhodes named coach of the year

Bay Junior High Coach Billy W. Rhodes was named Gulf Coast Conference Coach of the Year this week for the Junior High Division.

Rhodes, who led the Tigers to a 9-1 record in 1975, has coached at Bay Junior for seven years. During that time, he has captured the conference championship twice, placed second three years, third one year, and fourth one year.

During his two years of coaching the Tiger football team, Rhodes has compiled a win-loss record of 48 wins and only 13 losses. In 1975 the Junior Tigers scored 180 points against their opponents while limiting the opponents to 38. The Tigers shut out seven of their opponents this season.

A graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Rhodes received 15 varsity letters at Stanislaus and was named All-State in football.

After four years of varsity football at Southeastern Louisiana College in Hammond, La., Rhodes coached first at his alma mater Stanislaus for one year before coaching two years at Catholic High School, Baton Rouge, La.

In addition to his two years as head coach of the Tiger 11, Rhodes spent four years coaching boys' track, two years coaching girls' track and one year coaching girls' basketball.

Rhodes is assisted at Bay Junior High by coaches Cleveland Williams and Barney Necaise.

COACH OF THE YEAR - Bay Junior High School Coach Billy W. Rhodes has been named the Gulf Coast Conference Coach of the Year this week for the conference's junior high division. Rhodes led the Junior Tigers to their best record ever in 1975 when the Tigers went 9-1, losing only to Ocean Springs in the Mullet Bowl for the conference championship.

Four junior Tigers named All Conference

All conference awards were given to four Bay Junior High players this week, according to an announcement from a Gulf Coast Conference spokesman.

Named to the All Conference team were corner back and wide receiver Andy Buehler, defensive and offensive tackle Danny Bourgeois, defensive end and tight end Sunny Palode, and offensive guard and defensive corner back Daniel Edwards. Buehler, a ninth grader, was credited with intercepting six passes while doing an outstanding job of containing the end-around run.

Bourgeois, a ninth grader, is a second year starter who controlled the middle of the defensive line.

Palode, another ninth grader, caught four touchdown passes and averaged 35 yards per catch for the season. Edwards was a standout at guard and corner back and received recognition as one of the best blocking linemen to come out of Bay Junior High in recent years. He is also a

Rebs grab share of spotlight as Cooper lands Coach of the year

UNIVERSITY, Miss. - With Ken Cooper named the Coach of the Year in the Southeastern Conference and his Ole Miss team in a current tie for second with a 5-1 record, the Johnny Rebs had to be the surprise team in 1975 football in the South.

Last August, when the SEC Skywriters visited the campus, Cooper virtually spelled out the season for them. But no one took the bait.

The Rebs were lowered into the Conference cellar, again with a 0-6 record. "But who're you going to beat?" one skeptic asked after the luncheon meeting.

"You start with Baylor, and they're defending Southwest (Conference) champs. Your next game is with Texas A&M, and they're favored in the SWC. Your next game is with Tulane in New Orleans, and that will be your third straight road game."

Then, after you play Southern Mississippi at home, you start the meat grinder all over again with Alabama in Birmingham. By that time you won't have much football team left."

The Rebs did start out 0-3. Their lone claim to some fame in that string was the 7-0 loss to the unbeaten Aggies. No one has come that close since.

And Southern was beaten, 24-8. And Bama did score at 32-6. But from that Oct. 4, Cooper's observations began to ride home with more clarity.

He had noted that "This is a young Ole Miss team. We will have problems of development at certain positions, notably on offense. But we will improve from game to game. And I look for a winning season. So don't sell us short."

In effect, that was Cooper's message.

St. Paul trounces St. Thomas 46-6

The St. Paul Rebels trounced the St. Thomas Tigers 46-6 in last week's Oyster Bowl played at McDonald Stadium.

Following the game, trophies were presented to the Most Valuable player and Best Defensive and Best Offensive players on each team.

Winning the honors for St. Paul was Sean Logan, who captured both the Most Valuable player and Best Offensive player awards. Kevin Scardino received the Best Defensive player trophy. Brent Vigor won the Best

Offensive player title for the St. Thomas team. Glen Wilson was named the Best Defensive player. Trophies were presented by Bob Jones, Pass Christian

High School coach and St. Stanislaus coaches Barry Jones and Michael Grenelli.

Auto enthusiasts rally for Navy Relief Autocross

The Can-Do Racing Club and the Gulf Area Sports Car Association are staging a Navy Relief Autocross Sunday, Nov. 30 at the Seabee Base in Gulfport.

Open to all, registration will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., with the first lap of timed runs scheduled to commence at noon - sharp.

Cars expected include sports, mini, pony, and compacts. Seventeen classes with three additional distaff events have been programmed.

Dash plaques will be given all entries with trophies for event winners.

Information can be gained from Suzanne DeGraw at 864-6220, Ex. 497 or 498, or 864-8053 on Can-Do; Butch Horning, 896-7943 or 377-4317 on GASCA.

Last GASCA event was the Great Turkey Hunt, over weekend, when 19 out of 22 finished the time course, with two resorting to the "panic instructions" when they became lost, and one that has never returned.

David Lindow with Richard Martin, both of Biloxi, in a Spitfire, GASCA, won the bird, with a drop of only 546 points. Second place went to David Comeau, L. E. Havens as navigator, Mustang, GASCA, 621.

Racing card extended

Mobile Greyhound Park will have an extended slate of races for the Thanksgiving Holiday. Starting on Wednesday, November 26th, there will be matinee and night performances for four consecutive days through Saturday night. Matinee post time is 1:30, while night action starts at 8 p.m. The popular Gulf Coast attraction is located on I-10 just a little west of Mobile.

Clem Zwack's Greyhound Racing All-American Team nominee, Charlie G., continues to outclass most of the sprint competition and is on the threshold of gaining his 30th victory. It is a mark never reached in the history of the track and is even more amazing in view of the fact that he did not earn the first win of his career until May.

While the Zwack speedster is the reigning 1975 Juvenile Champ at Mobile, his toughest opposition in recent starts has come from another outstanding pup. Running for H. D. "Dude" Beckner's Kennel of Tylertown, Mississippi, H. D.'s Top Lass was the best of the young greyhounds.

COLD TURKEY REGATTA - Marc Eagan, with Ed Turnipseed crewing, won the cold, windy Cold Turkey Regatta at Pontchartrain Yacht Club last weekend with two firsts and a second in the Open Scot Class. Dwight LeBlanc, Jr., was second and Larry Taggart third. Leslie Weatherly won the Sunfish Class. Ed Reardon, Jr., was first in Lasers.

THANKSGIVING DANCE - Bay Waveland Juniors are hosting a big Thanksgiving Holiday Dance on Saturday, Nov. 29, from 8 p.m. to midnight with music by BLAKBONE.

BAIL THE BILGE - A delightful evening of Bail the Bilge was hosted last Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lampa, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Uram, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morales, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brennan, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, and Col. and Mrs. Jack Mohr.

SUNFISH INTRACLUB REGATTA - Bay Waveland will hold the big annual Fall Intracub Sunfish Regatta on Thanksgiving weekend, Nov. 29 and 30. This regatta is open to any and all BWYC members. There will be classes for everybody - Tykes, Heavies, Ladies, Seniors, Juniors, Hot Shots and more. The winners in each class will be eligible to compete in the three race final Championship Series. All races will be sailed on the short triangular course right in front of the Club, and will be a pleasure for the spectators as well as the participants.

Ladner thinks Hawks will succeed despite problems

Hancock North Central Coach Roland Ladner's Hawks will be lacking experience, height and weight on their 10-Man Varsity Squad. The 10 players average only 15½ years of age.

In spite of the above disadvantages, Ladner is very optimistic about this young group of men. He says they are a truly dedicated group. "We hope to substitute defense, quickness, speed, desire, and a team effort of 10 men far above the disadvantages," Ladner said early this week.

There are four returning letterman from last year's District Eight "A" Champion Team. Only two of these were regular starters. Senior Guy

Necaise (6'1") an all District Player for the past two seasons, and Senior Bobby Seals (5'11½").

Necaise is known for his inside play but can do a good job outside. Seals is a good ball handler. He is well known for his defensive abilities. Coach Ladner says he is shooting well from the outside this year. Both boys should provide a great deal of leadership to this young club. Senior forward Danny Lizana (6'1") the third letterman has been voted as a solid favorite for the pre-season award, most dedicated player, to be given semi-monthly through the season. He has very little experience, but Ladner thinks he will do a fine job as soon as he gets a little experience under his belt.

The fourth returning letterman, Junior guard Kim Ladner (5'11") did a fine job as a sophomore getting a great deal of playing time. He is fresh out of football, but should do well after a few weeks.

Junior forward Michael Ladner (6'2") has great leaping ability and has shown great improvement. Sophomore "Pat" Necaise (5'11½") forward-guard, just out of football and coming up from the junior high will also see a great deal of action in each game.

Four freshmen will round out the 10-man squad. They earned a position on the varsity squad because of their dedication and desire Ladner said. They are Dean Shaw (5'7½") guard, a quick, excellent ball handler and defensive player, who also shoots well enough to keep the defensive honest.

Barry Arcement (5'7½") forward-guard who handles the ball well, has good inside moves and is a good shooter and rebounder.

Alan Dedeaux (5'9") guard, a good ball handler, dribbler, and shooter. Wade Ladner (6'1½") a good shooter, especially on the base lines. He is also a good rebounder and has the makings of a good inside player.

The Junior Varsity at Hancock, coached by Gerry Mims, will be playing an extensive schedule this year. Competing for the Junior Varsity will be Juniors: Brian Ladner (6'4"), Carl Ladner (6'0"), Stevie Necaise (5'10"), Joey Malley (5'10"), and Derek Necaise (5'10"). Sophomores: Mark Warren David Ladner (6'0"), Mark Ladner (5'10"), Rocky Cuevas (5'6"), Lane Lee (5'6") and Freshman: Marty Ladner (5'6").

Bold face denotes voted most dedicated by his fellow players.

Present and future are topics

The state's problems, assets, and "future," are the prime topics scheduled for the Governor's Conference on Economic Development, scheduled for December 4 and 5 at the Downtown Holiday Inn, Jackson.

Dr. Robert L. Robinson, executive director, Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, sponsoring agency for the conference, said yesterday that a dozen spokesmen for government and industry will focus on methods to stimulate the growth of Mississippi.

Estrade-Ryan vows exchanged at OLG

Miss Susan Marie Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Aloysius Ryan of Bay St. Louis, and Melvin Dominique Estrade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominique Bernard Estrade Jr. of Metairie, La., were married Saturday, Nov. 22 in an afternoon concelebrated nuptial mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

The Very Reverend Gregory Johnson, pastor of Our Lady, was principal celebrant. He was assisted by Reverend John T. O'Brien of Pass Christian, Reverend Elvin Sunds of Jackson and Reverend John Noone of Gulfport.

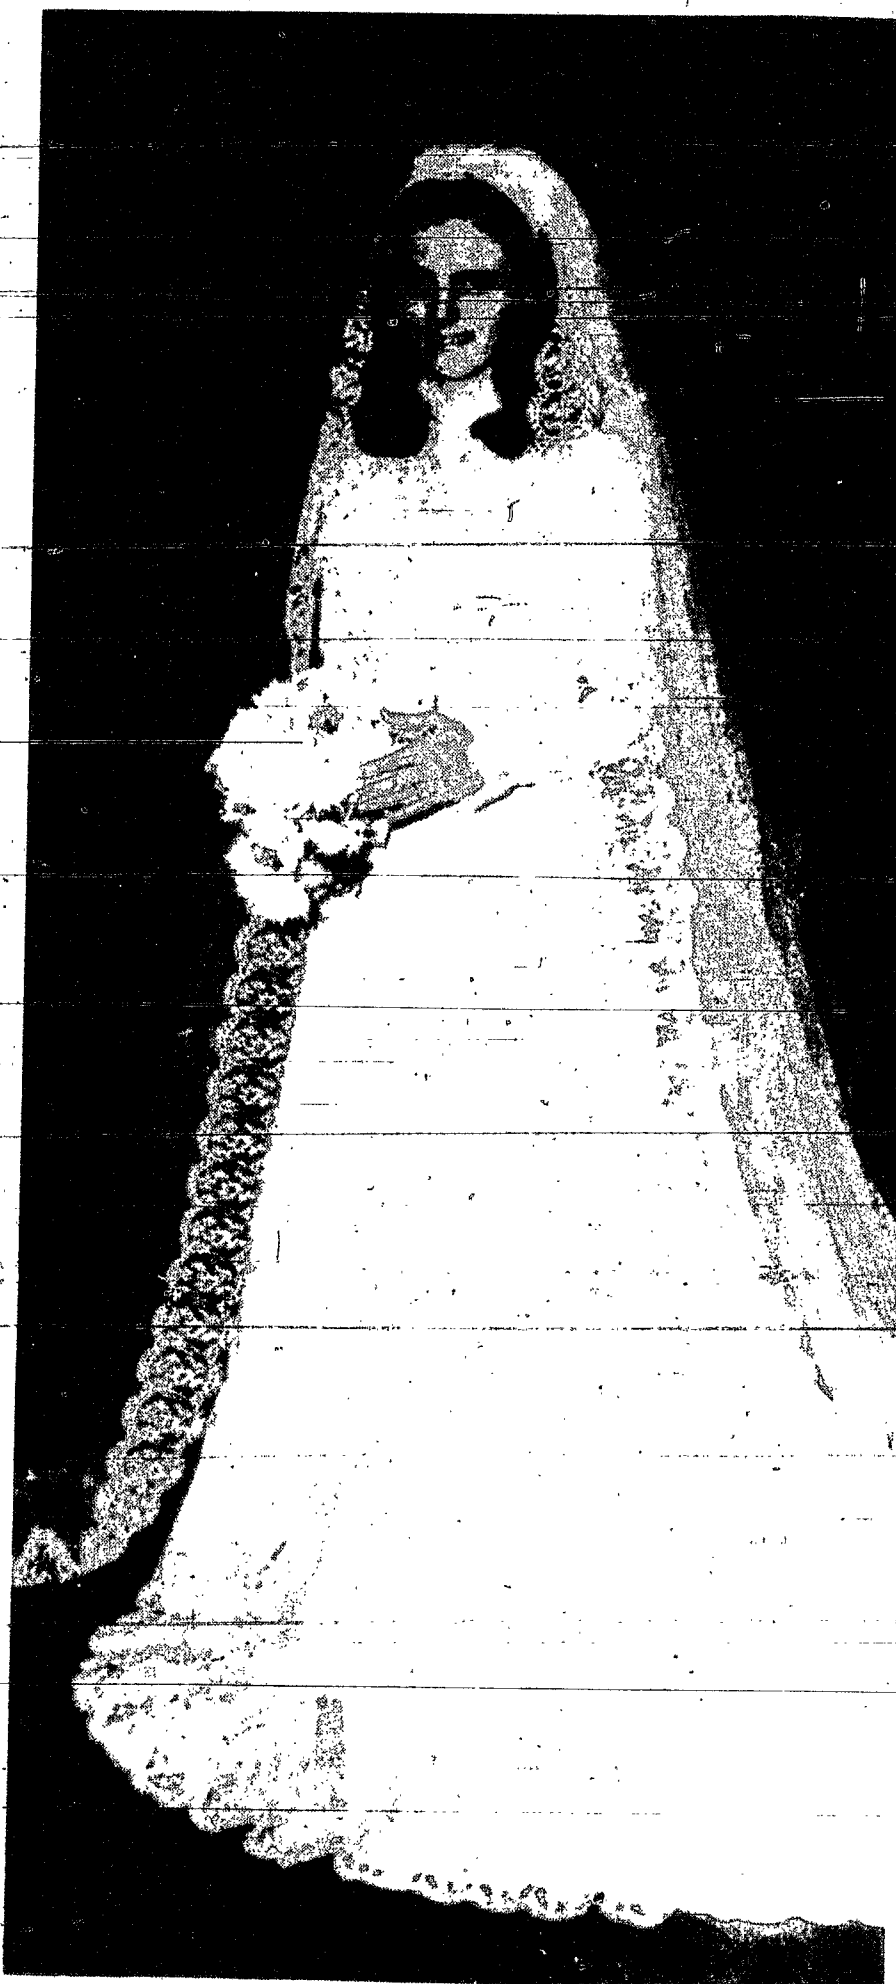

Rev. Johnson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with brass vases of gladioli, light bronze and white pompon chrysanthemums flanked by standing basket arrangements of gladioli and chrysanthemums and fern stands of greenery.

Master Billy Monti of Bay St. Louis and Master Frank Labruzzo of New Orleans served as altar boys, and scriptural passages were read by Brother Joseph Donovan, S. C. The mother of the couple participated in the Offertory procession.

Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played Caron's Marche Nuptiale for the processional and for the recessional a version of the same theme. One Hand-One Heart was played during the Offertory of the Mass. Let There be Peace on Earth was rendered during Communion and Schubert's Ave Maria for the presentation of flowers before the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Queen's floor length gown of candlelight silk organza and Cluny lace over peau de soie. The fitted bodice featured a V-shaped yoke of Cluny lace beaded in seed pearls and was outlined with a ruffle of the same lace. A ring collar accented the high neckline and long tight sleeves complemented the Princess style gown.

A wide flounce of lace encircled the skirt and cathedral length train and appliques of beaded lace showered the skirt and train. Her cathedral length veil of imported candlelight English illusion, edged in Cluny lace, fell from a small cap of matching lace. She carried a Colonial style bouquet of miniature candlelight and pale peach sweetheart roses interspersed with Stephanotis, baby's breath and English ivy.

Miss Theresa Ryan, Bay St. Louis, attended her sister as maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Groh of Pascagoula, Miss., was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Patrick Ryan, Starkville, Miss.; Mrs. Michael Ryan, Pass Christian, Miss.; and Mrs. Timothy Ryan, of Bay St. Louis, sisters-in-law of the bride. Miss Christina Michelle Ryan of Starkville, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

Stuart Estrade of Metairie, La., was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Gerald Estrade, brother of the groom, and Michael, Timothy and James Ryan, brothers of the bride. Patrick Ryan of Starkville, and Keith Roberts of Metairie served as ushers. Master Shawn Frederick, the groom's cousin, was ring bearer.

Standing baskets of white gladioli, bronze and white pompon chrysanthemums and fern stands of greenery decorated Jordan River Shores Country Club for the reception following the ceremony. The bride's table, overlaid with a white lace cloth, held a five-tiered scalloped base candlelight wedding cake trimmed with candlelight spun sugar roses. Candelabra entwined with miniature white pompon chrysanthemums, carnations, baby's breath and leather leaf fern completed the table decorations.

Miss Elizabeth Estrade, sister of the groom, presided at the guest table and Mrs. William Zimmerman cut the cake.

Mrs. Richard Sallinger assisted in serving and Mesdames James Lagasse, Joseph Kersanac, Helen Currie and James McCarthy presided at the punch tables.

Mrs. Ryan received guests wearing a formal coral knit gown. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

The mother of the groom chose a full length blue-green chiffon gown fashioned with flowing sleeves and loosely fitted bodice. She wore a white rose corsage.

For her traveling outfit the bride chose an avocado green knit pantsuit with beige trim and a beige blouse. A corsage of pale peach sweetheart roses completed her attire.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the couple will be at home at 128 St. Charles Street, Bay St. Louis.

Golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Probst, Waveland, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary recently with a reception at the Balcony in New Orleans.

The Probsts have four children, 11 grandchildren, and two great grandchildren. He is a retired licensed-gas fitter.

Art association opens December show

The Pass Christian Art Association will open its December membership showing Sunday, November 30 with a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Pass Christian Library.

Each member may bring three paintings ready for hanging. Art should be matted if watercolor or framed if in oils. All paintings should be brought to the library Saturday, Nov. 29.

Rutherford delivers address

John D. "Big John" Rutherford Jr. delivered the guest speaker's address Sunday at Pearlington Cemetery during memorial services for veterans buried in Hancock County.

The services were conducted by the chapters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, VFW Ladies Auxiliary, Disabled American Veterans, DAV Ladies Auxiliary, and American Legion from Bay St. Louis.

What's new at the library?

THE SWARM. Arthur Herzog. (Fiction). Only a few scientists placed any significance on the scattered reports of bees attacking humans. Then the terror began to spread and erupt into a national panic as the strange, murderous attacks of a new and vicious species of bees began to mount.

IF YOU COULD SEE WHAT I HEAR. Tom Sullivan.

The autobiography of Tom Sullivan, a gifted young man who became blind shortly after birth and refused to accept the limits of his handicap. He seized every opportunity to develop his abilities and became a champion wrestler at school, a dean's list student, an avid sportsman and a composer of popular songs. Tom describes his early days of intense loneliness; his education at the Perkins Institute for the Blind, a Providence College, and at Harvard University; and his warm relationship with his family.

JEFFERSON, NATIONALISM AND THE ENLIGHTENMENT. Henry Steele Commager. simply and succinctly, though I am aware that simplicity is deceptive and succinctness suspect," writes Dr. Commager. "It is this: that the Old World imagined the Enlightenment and the New World realized it. The Old World invented it, formulated it, and agitated it; America absorbed it, reflected it and institutionalized it."

TEACUP FULL OF ROSES. Sharon Bell Mathis.

(Young Adult Literature). Joe had a gift—he could tell stories that made people laugh or cry—or believe what they needed to believe. For two long years he worked full time and went to night school for the diploma that was supposed to open the doors to college and heaven itself. Then something happened that changed his family's life. It cost Joe what he loved most, robbed him of his final hope, but perhaps it bought him his soul. (An American Library Association Notable Book for Young Adults, 1975).

MACRAME FASHIONS AND FURNISHINGS. Charles Barnes.

Macrame has never been used more imaginatively, directions and diagrams never presented so explicitly, and patterns never so easy to follow.

THE MACRAME BOOK. Helene Bress.

A very comprehensive book describing the basic knots and the more advanced techniques, such as twining and wrapping, combining macrame with rug knots and with weaving. The use of other materials is suggested—beads, shells, feathers, ceramics along with patterns for a variety of projects.

THE ALCHEMIST. Leslie H. Whitten.

(Fiction). What goes on in Washington's temples of power—and what goes on after hours, when the real business is conducted? Leslie Whitten, Jack Anderson's top aide, brings all his abundant savvy about inside-Washington to this nonstop adventure novel.

CELEBRATIONS: THE COMPLETE BOOK OF AMERICAN HOLIDAYS. Robert Myers.

(Reference). Why do we wear new clothes at Easter? Where did the jack-o'-lantern come from? How did St. Patrick drive the snakes out of Ireland? Here in one volume is a useful and comprehensive guide to the notable holy days and holidays currently celebrated in America; how and why these special days originated, their history, legend and folk customs, poetry and song.

DO-IT YOURSELF HOME PROTECTION. Ralph Treves.

Step by step, how to: Install modern locks, make low-cost burglar alarms; protect your home from fire; burglar-proof your car; prepare for nature's perils; eliminate home hazards.

MALO'S COMPLETE GUIDE TO CANOEING AND CANOE CAMPING. John Malo.

Malo's guide is abundantly illustrated with photographs, drawings, and diagrams that make the text easy to understand. No canoeist, aspiring or devotee, should be without this book.

BUFFALO'S BACK IN TOWN

BUFFALO AVAILABLE
FRIDAY, SATURDAY
AND SUNDAY ONLY!

ENJOY A BIT OF AMERICA'S HERITAGE.
The Meat People bring back buffalo—a part of America's eating heritage, once near extinction, but now yours to enjoy, while quantities last, with a promise of a taste treat as great as the big country from which it comes. After grazing on native grasses in Wyoming, U.S.D.A. supervised herds are then grain fed to insure a yield of rich, full-flavored meat. When cooked, uncovered at low temperature, the natural juices and characteristic fine textured tenderness of buffalo is preserved for your whole family to enjoy. Recipes and cooking instructions for this easy-to-prepare meat eater's meat are FREE. Taste America's pioneer prime meat. You'll not soon forget buffalo.

Little Theatre schedules awards night dinner Dec. 4

The Little Theatre will hold its annual awards night dinner Dec. 4 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Following the Saturday night conclusion of its current season with a performance of "The Curious Savage," director Mary Carter and producer David Hubbard concluded the theatre's "year of nostalgia," during which only plays that had been hit shows of past seasons were presented.

Cast members of the final production included Frances Frankiewicz, Helen Trudell, Gerald Cox, Linda Evans, Lynn Phillips, Alice Holmes, Janet Busch, Marshall Henderson, Jay Heitzman, and Buster Diamond. Band, Art McEach. John Holmes served as technical director. Betty

Stechman as designer, and Phillip Folse and Janet Busch were in charge of cast make-up. Ray Stieff provided lobby decorations.

Following the curtain calls,

scheduled December 1

The St. Stanislaus Band Boosters Club will sponsor its first annual Christmas benefit social Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main Street.

According to Mrs. John Williams, chairman, several prizes will be awarded throughout the evening. She said donations are $1.00 and the cast presented Mrs. Carter with a contribution to the Caroline Kiefer Memorial Fund. Mrs. Kiefer, a lifelong friend and former theatre instructor to Mrs. Carter, was the Little Theatre's chairman of production for a number of years. The cast also announced that a fund to provide scholarships for local aspiring actors has been set up in Mrs. Kiefer's memory.

CONSUMER'S NOTEBOOK

Turtle oil, vitamin E face masks and hormone-performing creme.

If modern fashion magazines were to be believed, the average American woman would need an arsenal of expensive and exotic beauty products to keep her attractive.

But according to noted Dermatologist Dr. Bedford Shelmire Jr., most women could get by on 10 to 15 percent of what they are now spending on cosmetics with the same beauty results.

An assistant professor of dermatology at Southwestern Medical School and the author of two books, "The Art of Looking Younger," and "The Art of Being Beautiful at Any Age," Dr. Shelmire blasts the theory that the most expensive beauty products are always the most effective.

The active moisturizer in almost any creme you buy, whether it costs 89 cents a bottle or $35 an ounce, is either mineral oil or petrolatum (petroleum jelly). Dr. Shelmire says, "It is no exaggeration to say that one of the main occupations of the cosmetic industry is converting oils and greases into forms that look, smell and feel better than the unadorned raw materials."

Therefore, its up to the consumer to decide if she wants to use "plain" old petroleum jelly as a night creme or petroleum jelly that smells like lemons at twice the price.

Hair care products often cause consumer confusion, Dr. Shelmire says.

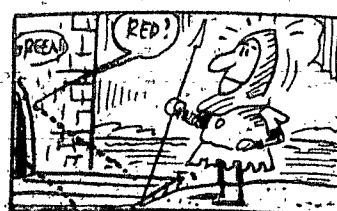

Although he advocates hair conditioning products for correcting split ends and damage due to waving solutions, bleaches, dyes and tints, the woman shopping for conditioners must often dig beneath a thick layer of meaningless promotional terms and slogans to expose the simple facts, Dr. Shelmire claims.

According to the doctor, "balsam" is a word used indiscriminately to refer to hair conditioners in general. The term "herbal" is tossed around on hair care product packages, but "herbal" refers to fragrance only. The terms "natural" and "natural formula" are seen frequently on bottles of hair conditioner, but "natural" like the other two terms, has no practical meaning when it comes to hair care. He adds that acid-reacting hair rinses such as lemon juice and vinegar impart no conditioning effects at all.

Despite his outspoken opinions on what is and is not a good and economical beauty product, Dr. Shelmire says his objective is not to attack the cosmetic industry so much as to "educate the public to new ideas."

He admits, "I'm only making a dent."

Never use a stain remover until you test the cloth for the remover's effect on color.

Christmas in the making

Handmade gifts featured at Santa's House bazar

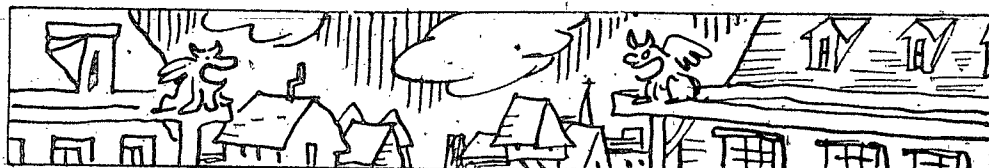

The Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary will sponsor Santa's House, a Christmas bazaar, Dec. 5, from 2-5 p.m. and Dec. 6 from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the Webb Community Center on Third Street.

Items for sale include handmade gifts, tree decorations, baked goods, and toys.

Santa will arrive to greet the children and a photographer will be on hand.

Proceeds from the bazaar will benefit service organizations in the community.

Gargoyles, those grotesques seen on Notre Dame and other old buildings of Europe are named from the French word for throat, since they were often used as Gothic gutters and leaders.

St. Paul's P.T.O. holds show

A dinner and style show co-sponsored by St. Paul's P.T.O., The Little Mushroom, and the Sea Chest was held last week to raise funds for the school, according to Don Bratton, P.T.O. president.

Door prizes in the form of gift certificates were donated by the two stores. The theme, "Styles Designed to Ready Us for the Approaching Festive Thanksgiving and Yuletide Seasons" featured models Grace Neceise, Diane Peranich, Kay Dudley, Sandy McDaniel, Tricia Deffes, Marie Rogers, Madeline Taylor, Thelma Yockey, Sandy Summers, Bobbie Bourdin, Gayle Parker, Shirley Walton, Elizabeth Cornell, and Chris Keel.

Thelma Yockey served as mistress of ceremonies. Mary Bratton was in charge of food, and Connie Jenkins and Shirley Schmidt shared stage and model duties.

Highlight of the evening, according to Brannon, was a kangaroo auction of a negligee donated by the Sea Chest. John Deffes, won the final bid on the gown for $52.

St. Ann's News

St. Ann's Altar Society held a special meeting Nov. 18 to complete plans for its annual Christmas party and installation of new officers Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at Ramada Inn, Waveland.

Members are asked to make reservations before Nov. 30 by calling Mrs. Alvin Ladner at 487-6273.

Mrs. Irene Graff was appointed chairman for St. Ann's benefit social to be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6, in Parish Hall, Lower Bay Road, Clermont Harbor. Donation will be $1 per person. The public is invited.

INTENTION TO CREATE KILN WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

The Board of Supervisors took up for consideration the matter of the incorporation of a combined water and fire protection district within Hancock County, Mississippi, with the corporate name "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as authorized by Chapter 493, Laws of 1975. After a general discussion of the subject, Supervisor Lader offered and moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

RESOLUTION FINDING AND DETERMINING THAT THE PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY REQUIRE THE CREATION OF "KILN WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI," AS A COMBINED WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT WITHIN HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF CHAPTER 493, LAWS OF 1975; FINDING AND DETERMINING THAT THE CREATION OF "KILN WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI," IS ECONOMICALLY SOUND AND DESIRABLE; DESIGNATING THE COMBINED WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, AS THE CONTIGUOUS AREA OF SUCH DISTRICT; DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI TO CREATE "KILN WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI," AS A COMBINED WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT WITHIN HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF CHAPTER 493, LAWS OF 1975, AT A MEETING OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI ON NOVEMBER 17, 1975; DIRECTING THE CLERK TO PUBLISH A CERTIFIED COPY OF THE FULL TEXT OF THIS RESOLUTION IN THE MANNER REQUIRED BY CHAPTER 493, LAWS OF 1975; AND FOR OTHER RELATED PURPOSES.

WHEREAS, the 29th day of October, 1975, this Board did adopt a certain Resolution declaring the intention of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, to fix a time and place for a public hearing upon the question of the public convenience and necessity of the incorporation of the "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," and directing publication of the Notice and the purposes for such public hearing, which time was 10:00 o'clock A.M., on November 17, 1975, at the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the form of such notice being set out in full in such Resolution; and

WHEREAS, the said Resolution did direct that such Notice be published as required by law in a newspaper published and of general circulation in the County of Hancock County, Mississippi, and in a newspaper published and of general circulation in the County in which the proposed district is located, and which is a qualified newspaper under the provisions of Chapter 427, Laws of Mississippi 1948; and

WHEREAS, such Notice, in the form provided for in said Resolution was thereupon duly published by the Clerk of this Board in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published and of general circulation in the County in which the proposed district is located, and which is a qualified newspaper under the provisions of Chapter 427, Laws of Mississippi 1948, on October 22, 1975, and on November 17, 1975, and therefore was published as required by law; and

WHEREAS, the Clerk of this Board has procured from the publishers of the aforesaid newspaper, the customary proof of publication of the Notice of such hearing as provided for in said Resolution, and has filed such proof of publication with this Board;

WHEREAS, this Board finds and determines that all of the requirements of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, as to the adoption of said Resolution and the giving of notice of the public hearing as provided for therein, have been fully complied with; and

WHEREAS, as provided in said Resolution, and such Notice, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County duly met on November 17, 1975, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. in the office of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, at the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room in the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, for the purpose set out in said Resolution and such Notice; and

WHEREAS, this Board finds and determines that no protest or objection was filed with this Board in opposition to the creation of the proposed "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," nor has any party appeared before this Board in opposition to the creation of the proposed "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," and

WHEREAS, on November 17, 1975, this Board heard and considered the evidence presented in support of the creation of such district, and the incorporation of the proposed "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," and whether the creation of such district is economically sound and desirable; and

WHEREAS, the Board finds and determines that the public convenience and necessity require the creation of the proposed "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, with the boundaries of the contiguous area of such district as set out and designated in this Resolution;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board will, on December 22, 1975, at the time and place set out in this Resolution, adopt a Resolution creating "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, unless 20 percent of the qualified electors of such proposed district shall file a written petition with the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County on or before December 22, 1975, protesting against the creation of such district, in which event such district shall not be created until the question of the creation of such district shall be submitted to a special election ordered for the purpose of determining whether or not a majority of the qualified electors of such district shall vote in such election shall be for or against the creation of such district; Such election shall be held in the manner provided for in Chapter 493, Laws of 1975. If a majority of those voting in such election shall vote for the creation of such district, then the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall adopt a Resolution creating such district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if no petition regarding the creation of such district is filed by December 22, 1975, that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall adopt a Resolution creating "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, with the boundaries of the contiguous area of such district as set out and designated in this Resolution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if no petition regarding the creation of such district is filed by December 22, 1975, that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall adopt a Resolution creating "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, with the boundaries of the contiguous area of such district as set out and designated in this Resolution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if no petition regarding the creation of such district is filed by December 22, 1975, that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall adopt a Resolution creating "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, with the boundaries of the contiguous area of such district as set out and designated in this Resolution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if no petition regarding the creation of such district is filed by December 22, 1975, that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall adopt a Resolution creating "Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi," as a combined water and fire protection district of Hancock County, Mississippi, under the provisions of Chapter 493, Laws of 1975, with the boundaries of the contiguous area of such district as set out and designated in this Resolution.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Another cold front which reached here over the weekend helped fishing a lot, mostly speckle trout. They have been caught off the railroad and highway bridges by casting and trolling. Cold weather is best for speckles provided the water is not too fresh. There are all different baits that will catch 'em. Mainly marlin, red heads, shad rigs and others too numerous to mention.

Dudley Heiliger makes some wonderful baits for catching speckles and reds, etc. Give the old dog a bone. Get some, you will be glad you did.

The past few days have been too cold for bass fishing. However, with the weather warming up they should start hitting again. On real warm days go to popping bugs. Green trout will hit them. If it remains cold go to underwater baits.

Checked the water around Middle River and Pearl River. It has gotten bad again. We think the best bet to catch bass is down at Ansley in the Pipe Line Canal and the bayous off Upper Campbell Bayou and way up Grand Plane Bayou. Reds and flounders are still being caught up Jourdan River. Caught some Monday. The water in Jourdan River, Rotten Bayou and Bayou LaCroix is good.

Good to know that at most all times, this time of the year, red fish, speckles, ground mullet and other salt water fish can be caught on dead shrimp fishing on the bottom. Shrimp cost plenty right now but are excellent bait for this type of fishing.

Among some of our local fishermen who have been catching speckles by casting and trolling out front are: Eddie Blaize, Cotton Blaize, Pete Porter, Hoke Ogden, Horace Farr and others.

Fishing partners, some of our lady folks are Mrs. Ollie Nelson and Mrs. Mary Thornton, two of the best on the coast. They catch their limit most every time they go. They fish mostly for bream and green trout, using whole grain corn for bait. This was given to me by Andrew Nelson also a good fisherman.

Two other fishermen I met the other day are Lamar Reynold, Jr. and A. R. McCordle from Lumberton, Miss. They fish mostly at Pearlinton, regularly. Don't worry, they catch their share of the finny tribe.

Phillip Adam is another of our old time fishermen of Burnett St. He knows how and where to catch fish.

Elijah Lee, bridge tender at the Pearlinton Bridge over Pearl River has caught his share of fish. Don't go as much as he used to. Used to hunt doves with his dad.

Vincent E. Salmon and H. W. Wheat are great fishermen and hunters from a long way back. Still get their share of fish and game. They are from Gulfport, but come to our area regularly.

Good news for those who like it. The Fair Grounds in New Orleans opened for the 104th racing season on Nov. 21st last Friday. A tip from me: "You can beat a race, but you can't beat the races."

Junior Bourgeois is a past master with a cast net. Murdered mullets one day last week. Mullet and French bread make for mighty good eating, any old time.

Haven't put much about hunting. Waiting for more dope. However, we have seen plenty ducks and geese while fishing. More on this later. Hunting for them is for young bucks. Not us old folks!

If you want to fish at a new place go to either Irish Bayou or North Shore over by Slidell. You can rent a boat or bring your own. Speckles run big especially along the railroad bridge. Now is the time to go.

A couple of our local sportsmen, just returned from a combination hunting trip of deer and turkey from Com-fort, Texas area. The season opens there on the 15th of November, a week earlier than the Mississippi season. Russell, one of my sons, is a member of the hunting group, and this trip is an annual affair. The game was plentiful and the area provided successful hunting for all. Russell lives in Bay St. Louis and though you do not hear too much of him as a sportsman, he is really quite active in golf, hunting, and fishing. And to say the least, he is one of the best salt water fishermen in the area. His ability to navigate a boat in all types of weather, rain, fog and darkness of night, has been responsible for the rescue of many fishermen. Incidentally Russell is the only person, other than Harrison County residents, to ever have been elected to the board of Directors of the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, the official fishing rodeo of the State and the World's largest. Lucien Kidd, one of our local officials, was a guest on this trip and they tell me that he is quite a marksman. Mr. Kidd also doubled a little work with his trip by inspecting installations and factories for possible future locating in our area. Good luck Lucien, wish you success, we can use more jobs here. Others on the trip were: Hue Snowden, Joe Casano, Ralph Gregory, Robert Gregory.

Webb Lee, Dale Dewey and Leroy Urie of Gulfport and from Biloxi were C. T. Switzer, Brook Smith, and Cliff Davis. Winding up this column, let's use Dudley Heiliger's saying "Let's Go Fishing." The fish are biting, why not catch 'em.

WHOOPIING IT UP—residents of the County Nursing Home enjoyed a ruckus prepared by members of the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary together with a Thanksgiving program presented by students of Christ Episcopal School recently. A similar party was given earlier this month for residents of Gulf View Haven nursing home.

Pass VFW auxiliary kicks off fund raising with steak dinner Saturday

A steak dinner followed by an evening of entertainment will kick off the Cancer Research and Air Program of the Ladies Auxiliary to Post No. 5931, Pass Christian, Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Mrs. Edna Szymanski, chairman.

Scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Saturday, at the Post Home, 401 Scenic Drive, proceeds will go towards realizing the post auxiliary's goal of $1,000.

With a state goal of $15,000, Mrs. Szymanski reported that Mississippi auxiliaries raised $11,793 towards the program in 1974.
